

Angel and institutional investors can play an important role in commercialization of university research. However, investors look at research with a very different point of view to that of academia. This webinar will describe how investors look at university research and how they react to what they consider hot-button issues.

To listen to this webinar, you will need your Penn State User ID or Friends of Penn State User ID. Please click here <https://breeze.psu.edu/p93061280/> to be linked to the webinar site.